

Stacey Lindsey is the Founder of They Serve 2, a non-profit dedicated to supporting military families. Stacey's passion for military families began when she became a Navy wife in 1992. Stacey currently serves on George Mason University's Educate the Educator Advisory Group and formerly served on MOAA's Spouse Advisory Council. She was awarded the Army's Outstanding Civilian Service Medal while stationed with her husband in Stuttgart, Germany. She is an Executive Vice President and Independent Consultant with Arbonne International, a $500M direct sales health and wellness company. She has engaged in extensive community support, sat on various boards, and run numerous charity events, however, she considers her most significant achievement to be a mil-spouse of nearly 24 years while raising two strong and independent daughters.
